John Henry-Rev. Samuel Davies. A late number of the Norfolk Journal contained a handsome notice of John Henry, the youngest son of the great orator of Virginia, whose death recently occurred at Red Hill, his patrimonial seat, in the county of Chariotte, at the age of seventy-two. The Journal says: "He was the youngest child of the illustri-James Otis, may be said to have called a nation into existence, and who, according to Fox, was more dreaded by George the Third than will continue so to do, and invites those who any other man of his generation. At the death of Patrick Henry, his son John whose death has just occurred, was only two years old, and he retained no recollection of his lather: but to his dying hour he cherished an ardent affection for his memory, preserving all the relics of the patriot with religious care, and defended it against all the misrepresentations which the heated partizans of an era subsequent to the Revolution were disposed to lay no 6 at his door. Among those relies we remember a small penknife which the uncle of the orator gave him when he was a boy, and which he wore in his waiscoat pocket to his dying day; and his tee books, in which he recorded the small fees of that day long since discarded by the profession, mingled now and then with a

It was not the disposition of Mr. John Henry to engage in the turmoils of public life. In the employments of his beautiful plantation, in the rearing of a large and intelligent tamily, and in the gentle and generous pursuits of literature, he spent a peaceful and honorable life. Just before his death he had the gratification to read from the pen of his oldest son an able and conclusive vindication of his father's memory from all the charges which, in a time of unusual party rancour, had been cast upon it, and feel that the honored name which he bore might receive a fresh illustration in coming honorarium which brought up his annual ear ning to a respectable sum.

We may mention in this connection, a famous pulpit orator of Virginia, from whom it is not unlikely the great Henry learned his first lessons in that matchless oratory which made him the wonder of the day-the Rev. Samuel Davies; a most interesting sketch of whom was recently published in the Richmond Christian Observer, under the heading "Prince of the American Pulpit." Mr. Davies was a Presbyterian minister, and of Welsh descent; he was born in Newcastle, Delaware, 1723; was educated at the school of the Rev. Samuel Blair, in Fagg's Manor, Pennsylvania, and entered upon the ministry in Hanover county, Va., where he resided for ten years, preaching to a church about twelve miles from Richmond, but extending his clerical labors over a wide region .-His simplicity of character and fervent piety gained him the confidence and love of the people, while his personal intrepidity, his scholarship and splendid genius commanded universal admiration. During the French and Indian wars, he delivered many stirring appeals .-Some of these patriotic sermons were delivered in Patrick Henry's neighborhood, and 'produced effects," says a biographer, "as powerful as those of Demosthenes." He was occasionally before the courts, where he defended himself with a mantulness, a power of logic and a splendor of eloquence that were irresis-

After Braddock's defeat, he preached a sermon, in which he spoke of Washington as "that heroic youth, Colonel Washington, "whom I cannot but hope Providence has "hitherto preserved in so signal a manner for "some important service to his country.,' He was sent on a mission to England with Gilbert Tennent, to collect funds for the college of New Jersey, in 1753, which was eminently successful. The first Presbytery in Virginia was established through his exertions in 1755. In 1758 he was chosen to succeed Jonathan Edwards as President of the college of New Jersey, which, after much hesitancy, he accepted. He died at Princeton, New Jersey February 4th, 1761. Nine editions of his ser-mons had been printed prior to the year 1900 OWNERS OF WATER POWER Should use the Celebrate mons had been printed prior to the year 1800. Dr. Alexander, in his work, "The Log Col-"lege," pronounces him "the first of Ameri-"can preachers," and in the estimation of the most competent judges, he was second only, if second at all, to the great Whitfield.

The fact that the annals of one county in Virginia are illustrated by the names of such wonderful orators as Davies, Henry and Clay, shows how fertile the old Commonwealth has been in men of genius, and how rich she is in historic treasures.—Richmond Whig.

A TUMOR WEIGHING SIX POUNDS.-A young lady, thirty-one years of age, living in Ellenville, N. J., has just undergone an operation both remarkable and dangerous. Two months ago she was startled with feelings of intense pain at times in the abdomen, at the left upon examination, that a tumor had grown in the part affected and was fast spreading. Following this came an enlargement of the abdomen to a startling extent. A surgeon was sent for, and expressed his willingness to make an incision with a view of extracting the tumor with the roots. Although the chances of her recovery after the operation were considered very uncertain, yet the poor girl willingly yielded, and under the influence of a powerful narcotic the operation was commenced. Many prominent medical men assisted. The abdomen had to be opened from one corner of the hip-bone almost to the other before the full extent of the tumor could be seen and the roots got at. After considerable effort it was extracted, apparently without serious derangement internally. Upon placing the tumor in a pair of scales it weighed six pounds and a quarter! The wound was bound and sewed up and the day after the young woman felt pretty cheery and had full hopes of her recovery.

The system occomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death. DR. JOHNSON, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astenishing cares that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injure i themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind unfitting them for either business, study, socie ty or marriage These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs Pain- in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Neryous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Averson to Sociaty, reli Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now

tain practice, indulged in, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contem-MARRIAGE, reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prosp et hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovdollars per ton in bbls, or ten dollars per ton if we furnish bags, with the understanding that the bags are to be returned in ten days. If not so returned, five cents per bag will be charged pearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, necturnal pains in the head and lisabs. dimness of sight deafness, nodes on the shinbones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiss ration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from we ence no traveller returns."
